Subject: RE: Dental Council: Consultation on an updated sedation practice standard

I am not sure how things will go with the new NZRC Advanced Rescuers course (Previously level 6) (not yet provided) that is being introduced at the end of the year, as there is going to be a new exam and course book.

This may prove to be easier. The course manual book certainly looks less complicated than the previous one.

We do find dentist have difficulty with the level 6-7 course, mainly in the ECG interpretation and written exam, which does centre mainly on ED / ICU questions. Difficult to alter that when it is a generic course.

Thanks for your reply and clarity.

Kind Regards

Andy
