

I would consider it a sensible move to have Dental Therapists and Oral Health Therapists linked as one occupational group to keep fees at a reasonable level for both. As time goes by and more Dental Therapists leave the workforce these fees will become exorbitant.

At present other groups are linked together in the fee structure – Hygienist/Orthodontic Auxiliary, Dental Technicians and Clinical Technicians, Dentists and Specialists so I fail to see why this cannot be considered for our occupational group.

Regards

Linda Harrison
Dental Therapist,

[Redacted signature block]