Q5

Disagree

Retain a 'working relationship' as a scope of practice requirement for the dental therapy, dental hygiene, oral health therapy and orthodontic auxiliary professions.

Q6

Please comment below on your support or concern.

Similar to OHT, DT's are independent practitioners and have been legislated since the introduction of HPCA. A very mature profession with proven credibility needs to have a consultative relationship at a inter professional ,intra professional and cross professional level but it does not need to have signed agreements or the likes

Page 6: Working relationship - proposal 2

Q7

Agree

The current working relationship for dental therapy, dental hygiene and orthodontic auxiliary practice be redefined as a consultative professional relationship, in line with oral health therapy.

Q8

Please comment below on your support or concern.

This is a sensible approach and all health practitioners must consult their peers/colleagues but the current model is very prescriptive and archaic. DHBs are moving away from the historical approach of employing principal dental officers as the world transitions from "dental" to the contemporary world of oral health

Agree

The consultative professional relationship be defined as:The arrangement between an oral health practitioner and dentist to provide professional advice about treating and managing patients, within the oral health practitioner's scope of practice. It provides a clear and reliable way for the oral health practitioner to seek advice, and a potential pathway for referral.

Q10

Please comment below on your support or concern.

Already proven to work for OHTs

Q11

Agree

A signed written agreement is no longer be required for dental therapy, dental hygiene or orthodontic auxiliary practice, as it is anticipated that practitioners will reliably meet their responsibilities in the consultative professional relationship, consistent with the position held for oral health therapy. Practitioners may still choose to have a written agreement, or employers may require one.

Q12

Please comment below on your support or concern.

Fully support the removal of written agreements

Q13

Agree

Describe the current working relationship for dental technology and clinical dental technology practice as a professional relationship between a technician and other health practitioners, to acknowledge the professionals involved and the oral health practitioners' professional obligations under the standards framework.No changes to the nature of this relationship are proposed, or to the current professional responsibilities of practitioners in this relationship.

Q15

Agree

Remove the multiple 'working relationship' practice standards from the standards framework for oral health practitioners, and to publish the following two guidance documents to help practitioners understand and meet their professional relationship responsibilities: Guidance for the consultative professional relationship between an oral health therapist, dental therapist, dental hygienist, or orthodontic auxiliary and dentist/dental specialist Guidance for the professional relationship between a dental technician or clinical dental technician and other health practitioners

Page 11: Practising conditions for dental hygiene activities - proposal 7

Q17

Agree

All activities in the dental hygiene scope of practice be performed within a consultative professional relationship without the need for clinical guidance or direct clinical supervision for the administration of local anaesthetic and application of prescription preventive agents. Direct clinical supervision will remain for dental hygienists undertaking orthodontic activities currently specified as being performed under direct clinical supervision. The specific requirements for the dentist to: implement the orthodontic treatment plan; be responsible for the patient's clinical care outcomes; and be on-site at the time of the orthodontic activities being performed, to be included in the relevant scope activity description.

Q25 Agree

To not replicate the guidance ('should statements') in the current dental hygiene working relationship relating to a patient's initial assessment into the new consultative professional relationship guidance document. The new consultative professional relationship guidance document contains the following guidance: Identify any specific circumstances where you expect the oral health practitioner will ask for professional advice or assistance, for example: The interpretation of significant or complex medical histories and their potential influence when providing oral health care, including when planning to administer local anaesthetic.
