Concerned that under 12 year olds being classified as medium risk becomes barrier for care especially in single clinic setting where stand down will apply when multi clinic settings can waive the stand down time. Perhaps consider if caregiver is low risk classify child as low risk.

The requirement for plastic apron or new gown for every low risk patient creates either extreme amounts of waste or excessive amount of laundering. Maintaining the current status quo with gowns for low risk patients should be given strong consideration.

Consider either Rapid Antigen Testing OR PCR test being negative for unvaccinated medium risk patient being treated as low risk. Reports of PCR testing in Auckland taking 5 days to come back signals a potential significant barrier to care.
