Q9

Yes

Do you believe the proposed changes will help reduce barriers to registration for suitably trained overseas practitioners?

Q10

Please tell us why:

More options are available for overseas dentists to register. The new changes seem fairer than the present situation. There seem to be good safeguards in place.

Q12

Please tell us why:

I agree that if the dental practitioner is registered with one of the competent authorities listed, they should be able to practice in NZ - as their training and skills etc should be similar

Please tell us why:

This will enable vacant positions at the universities to be filled with well qualified people. There is ongoing supervision and they will do the training module. However, not sure if they will ever be able to practice outside the university - is there going to be a pathway for that?

Q17

Support

Do you support removing the requirement for a medical degree for oral medicine specialist registration in New Zealand, subject to the relevant medical training and clinical experiences being embedded into the specialist training programme? Click to learn more about the proposed changes.

Q18

Please tell us why:

Overseas a lot of oral medicine specialists do not have a medical degree. As long as they have had the relevant medical training etc within their PG course, I do not think a medical degree is necessary. Very few dentists will take up oral medicine training if they also need to do medicine. We are very short of specialists in this field.

Q20

Please tell us why:

If their training has included both, then I think they should be able to register directly in clinical dental technology.
