

Sedation submissions

---

To whom it may concern

I believe the administration of oral sedation is safe and very helpful and needed for the anxious patient.

I believe current rule are already prohibitive and unrealistic and for that reason we stopped offering sedation to our nervous patients.

IV sedation is very expensive and extra compliance puts this out of mos patients reach.

I feel the advocates claiming oral sedation is unsafe does not rely on clinical data and wants to over complicate a very safe procedure.

Midazolam sedation has been proven to be effective and safe as an oral sedation drug.

In my 28 years of practice I used it with great success and all of the sudden it has become impossible to prescribe and administer?

I feel oral sedation should be less regulated and made available to all clinicians to help their nervous patient get the treatment they need.

Kind regards

Riaan Kriek